

HEAL Synopsis

Director Kelly Noonan Gores' documentary takes us on a scientific and spiritual journey where we discover that our thoughts, beliefs, and emotions have a huge impact on our health and ability to heal. The latest science reveals that we are not victims of unchangeable genes, nor should we buy into a scary prognosis. The fact is we have more control over our health and life than we have been taught to believe. This film will empower you with a new understanding of the miraculous nature of the human body and the extraordinary healer within us all.

HEAL not only taps into the brilliant minds of leading scientists and spiritual teachers, but follows three people on actual high stakes healing journeys. Healing can be extremely complex and deeply personal, but it can also happen spontaneously in a moment. Through these inspiring and emotional stories we find out what works, what doesn't, and why.

Rob Wergin uses manual healing techniques on Roger as a means to remove the “blockages” that prevent him from healing fully.

Patty works on Eva with an emotional freedom technique that allows one to go the place of the most feared emotions.

Director's Statement

People wonder why I did this film. "Did you lose someone to cancer? Do you have a serious illness?" they ask. Thankfully, I did not have to endure either of these all too common tragedies. I am just passionately curious about understanding how the Universe works and I have a deep desire to help people who are suffering.

*I have always been curious. About life, about psychology, about science. When I started learning about quantum physics, spirituality, and nutrition in my 20s I became passionately curious about our ability as humans to actively create our life experience. Reading The Biology of Belief by Bruce Lipton about 8 years ago, I was elated to find out that we are not victims of our genes, but that our thoughts, beliefs and lifestyle choices are what turn on and off genes. We DO have more power over our lives and health than we have been led to believe!*

*If Bruce's book planted the seed of this film in my heart, it was when I read Dying To Be Me by Anita Moorjani in 2014 that the seed cracked open and the film HAD to be made. After battling Stage 4 lymphoma and slipping into a coma, Anita had a near death experience during which she had an epiphany that FEAR was the cause of her cancer. When her deceased father told her to go back and live her life without fear, she came back into her body and left the hospital CANCER FREE 5 weeks later. With a shift in consciousness and no longer fearing death (or life for that matter), her body healed quite spontaneously. This proved to me the human body is capable of miraculous things.*

For the past 10 years I've been increasingly shocked at how common cancer has become and by how many people are taking medication for a chronic illness. I ask myself, has our world become so toxic that illness is inevitable? I refuse to believe we are victims in a hopeless epidemic. Why do some people heal and others do not?

This film is about empowering people with awareness about how powerful the mind body connection is. It is about inspiring people to take their health back and not fall victim to the downward spiral of fear that comes with a scary diagnosis. There are so many powerful stories of healing and legitimate scientific evidence that proves the body is capable of healing from virtually any disease. It's a film about possibility and hope.

From a storytelling standpoint, I thought it would be compelling to document a few real people on actual healing journeys. It's easy for someone to interview experts and understand the science, but to ride the emotional roller coaster with someone going through the intense pressure of transformation adds a dimension to the very complex picture. I knew it was a risk because, what if one of the people didn't heal? Would that discredit my theory about how powerful mind body medicine is? I had faith that whatever was meant to be revealed on their journeys would ultimately help the audience, so I took the risk.

The message of this film is not anti medication or Western medicine. The intention of this film is to raise awareness that our bodies are brilliantly designed to heal and our mind and hearts play a powerful part in the body's ability to do so. With scientific evidence, inspiring stories, spiritual insights, and a dash of humor, I hope to not only help people in need of healing but also help shift the medical model from one of symptom management and surviving, to one of true wellness and thriving.

Featured Stories

Eva

A middle aged single parent, Eva is struggles with mystery illness. Her story exemplifies the current Western approach of “throw medication at disease and see what sticks.” In HEAL we show the power of a holistic approach that includes thought, mindfulness, deep emotional exploration, sound healing and more. Through Eva’s story it becomes clear that this fight-or-flight background stress has been pervasive for years, and there is no quick fix. Eva’s case is not a simple Hollywood ending, as the path to her root cause is less travelled for a reason—it takes responsibility and time, the opposite of what we, as a society, has been conditioned to disregard and instead, quite often, the suggestion is a quick-fix pill.

Liz

Liz is a seemingly fit, healthy yoga practitioner whose life is uprooted as she faces Stage 4 cancer. Her scientist brother says “You’ve been juicing your whole life Liz, this is stage 4, you need to do something different.” Through her story, we explore the mystery behind the true cause of her disease and what, if anything, can help save her life. We witness Liz going to a spiritual psychologist in addition to applying Western medicine (chemotherapy). While prepared for death, Liz starts to find miracles. Her conclusion: Emotions, stress, and more need to be considered for true whole healing.

Dr. Joe Dispenza (Rainier, Washington)

Joe Dispenza, D.C., first caught the public's eye as one of the scientists featured in the award-winning film What the BLEEP Do We Know!? Since that movie's release in 2004, his work has expanded, deepened, and spiraled in several key directions—all of which reflect his passion for exploring how people can use the latest findings from the fields of neuroscience and quantum physics to not only heal illness but also to enjoy a more fulfilled and happy life. Dr. Joe is driven by the conviction that each one of us has the potential for greatness and unlimited abilities.

As a teacher and lecturer, Dr. Joe has been invited to speak in more than 27 countries on six continents, educating thousands of people in his trademarked easy-to-understand, encouraging, compassionate style, detailing how they can re-wire their brains and re-condition their bodies to make lasting changes. In addition to offering a variety of online courses and tele-classes, he personally teaches three-day progressive workshops and five-day advanced workshops in the U.S. and abroad. Dr. Joe is also a faculty member at the International Quantum University for Integrative Medicine in Honolulu; the Omega Institute for Holistic Studies in Rhinebeck, New York; and Kripalu Center for Yoga and Health in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. He's also an invited chair of the research committee at Life University in Atlanta, Georgia.

As a researcher, Dr. Joe explores the science behind spontaneous remissions and how people heal themselves of chronic conditions and even terminal diseases. He's more recently begun partnering with other scientists to perform extensive research on the effects of meditation during his advanced workshops. He and his team do brain mapping with electroencephalograms (EEGs) and individual energy field testing with a gas discharge visualization (GDV) machine, as well as measure both heart coherence with HeartMath monitors and the energy present in the workshop environment before, during, and after events with a GDVSputnik sensor. Soon, he plans to include epigenetic testing in this research, as well.

David R. Hamilton, Ph.D. (Glasgow, Scotland)

David Hamilton has a first class honors degree in chemistry, specializing in biological and medicinal chemistry. He has the slightly geeky honor of having achieved 100% in his 3rd year university degree exam in Statistical Mechanics, which is a branch of quantum physics applied to chemistry.

After completing his Ph.D., he worked for 4 years in the pharmaceutical industry, first developing drugs for cardiovascular disease and cancer, then a year managing leadership and change projects. During this time he also served as an athletics coach and manager of Sale Harriers Manchester, one of the UK's largest athletics clubs, leading the Junior Men's team to three successive UK finals. Upon leaving the pharmaceutical industry, he co-founded the international relief charity Spirit Aid Foundation and served as a director for 2 years.

While writing his first book (2004-2005), he taught chemistry (main) plus ecology and mathematics (secondary) at West College Scotland (formerly, James Watt College of Further and Higher Education) and tutored chemistry at the University of Glasgow.

He's now a bestselling author of eight books (numbers nine and 10 are due out in 2017) published by Hay House UK, and offer talks and workshops that use science to inspire – fusing neuroscience, the mind-body connection, kindness, and philosophical and eastern spiritual teachings. He also writes a regular blog on his website as well as occasional blogs for the Huffington Post (US edition) and Psychologies Life Labs, and is a columnist for Soul and Spirit Magazine. In 2016, David won the Kindred Spirit, Best MBS Writer Award.

Bruce Lipton, Ph.D. (Santa Cruz, California)

*Bruce Lipton is an internationally recognized leader in bridging science and spirit. Stem cell biologist, bestselling author of The Biology of Belief and recipient of the 2009 Goi Peace Award, he has been a guest speaker on hundreds of TV and radio shows, as well as keynote presenter for national and international conferences.*

*Dr. Lipton began his scientific career as a cell biologist. He received his Ph.D. Degree from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville before joining the Department of Anatomy at the University of Wisconsin's School of Medicine in 1973. Dr. Lipton's research on muscular dystrophy, studies employing cloned human stem cells, focused upon the molecular mechanisms controlling cell behavior. An experimental tissue transplantation technique developed by Dr. Lipton and colleague Dr. Ed Schultz and published in the journal Science was subsequently employed as a novel form of human genetic engineering.*

In 1982, Dr. Lipton began examining the principles of quantum physics and how they might be integrated into his understanding of the cell's information processing systems. He produced breakthrough studies on the cell membrane, which revealed that this outer layer of the cell was an organic homologue of a computer chip, the cell's equivalent of a brain. His research at Stanford University's School of Medicine, between 1987 and 1992, revealed that the environment, operating through the membrane, controlled the behavior and physiology of the cell, turning genes on and off. His discoveries, which ran counter to the established scientific view that life is controlled by the genes, presaged one of today's most important fields of study, the science of epigenetics. Two major scientific publications derived from these studies defined the molecular pathways connecting the mind and body. Many subsequent papers by other researchers have since validated his concepts and ideas.

Anita Moorjani (Redondo Beach, California)

Anita Moorjani was born in Singapore of Indian parents, moved to Hong Kong at the age of two, and has lived in Hong Kong most of her life. Because of her background and British education, she is multilingual and grew up speaking English, Cantonese, and an Indian dialect simultaneously; she later learned French at school. Anita had been working in the corporate world for many years before being diagnosed with cancer in April 2002. Her fascinating and moving near-death experience in early 2006 tremendously changed her perspective on life, and her work is now ingrained with the depths and insights she gained while in the other realm.

As a result of her near-death experience, Anita is often invited to speak at conferences and events around the globe to share her insights. She is also a frequent guest at The University of Hong Kong's department of behavioral sciences, speaking on topics such as dealing with terminal illness, facing death, and the psychology of spiritual beliefs. She is the embodiment of the truth that we all have the inner power and wisdom to overcome even life's most adverse situations, as she's the living proof of this possibility. Anita currently lives in Hong Kong with her husband, and when she's not traveling and speaking at conferences, she works as an intercultural consultant for multinational corporations based in the city.

Dr. Jeffrey Thompson, D.C, BFA (Carlsbad, California)

Dr. Jeffrey Thompson began experimenting with sound and its effects on the body and brain in 1981 at his Holistic Health Center in Virginia. His experiments involved using exact sound frequencies to make chiropractic spinal and cranial adjustments, to stimulate and normalize organ function, and to balance acupuncture meridians. His clinical research with thousands of patients and volunteers led to groundbreaking discoveries in how sound frequency patterns, built into musical soundtracks, can entrain brainwaves and trigger numerous health benefits.

Dr. Thompson continued his scientific clinical research at a graduate school and research center in Encinitas, California, for many years. A member of the faculty, he taught behavioral psycho-acoustics and clinical neuroacoustic therapy courses, recognized by the state of California as part of the core curriculum for the clinical psychotherapy and human science master's and PhD programs. Dr. Thompson currently teaches at various institutions and through sponsored seminars, workshops, and certification courses.

In 1988, Dr. Thompson established the Center for Neuroacoustic Research in Encinitas, California. In 1989, NASA and Jet Propulsion Laboratory asked Dr. Thompson to explore a series of powerful recordings that the Voyager I & II Spacecraft had sent back from Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. Dr. Thompson was invited to research the possible meaning and applications of these NASA Space Sound Recordings.

Dr. Thompson is recognized as a worldwide expert in the field of acoustic pacing frequencies incorporated into musical soundtracks. A consummate musician and composer in his own right, he has established a method for using modulated sound-pulses for changing states of consciousness, resulting in optimal mind-body healing. In the 1990s, Dr. Thompson's method of using sound to heal was chosen as one of the top alternative-healing modalities in the US. His work was funded through the Center for the Study of Complementary and Alternative Therapies (CSCAT).

Kelly Turner, Ph.D. (New York City)

Kelly Turner is the New York Times bestselling author of Radical Remission: Surviving Cancer Against All Odds, now in 20 languages, which summarizes her research into the radical remission of cancer – when someone heals from cancer without Western medicine or after Western medicine has failed. Over the past decade, she has conducted research in 10 different countries and analyzed over 1,500 cases of radical remission. She is a frequent guest on The Dr. Oz Show and holds a B.A. from Harvard University and a Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley.

Most recently, Kelly has adapted her bestselling book into a fictional, feature-length screenplay entitled OPEN-ENDED TICKET. This film tells the story of a cancer patient who takes her best friend on an around-the-world journey to try to find her estranged father before it's too late. In their race against time, a string of unexpected events makes them question everything they thought they knew about life, death, and healing. A staged reading of this screenplay is scheduled for October 2015 in NYC.

Finally, Kelly is also working on a 9-part docu-series that will cover each of the 9 healing factors from her research, and feature many of the Radical Remission survivors from the book. She is also the founder of the Radical Remission Project website, which continues to collect new cases of Radical Remission.

Rob Wergin (Asheville, North Carolina)

Rob Wergin has extraordinary gifts. He is fully clairvoyant, clairsentient, and clairaudient. At a young age he was able to heal animals and communicate with spirits. These gifts were not understood and he learned to ignore them. For over 30 years he worked in corporate America as a highly successful CEO. Then one day, he was hit by the ultimate “cosmic 2x4”, and in that time of deep despair, he asked what his life was for and...HE HEARD THE ANSWER. Since then Rob has dedicated his life to being a vessel for Divine Light and Love. He has helped tens of thousands of people of all ages and religions.

Raised in a strictly Christian home in the heart of South Dakota’s rich Native American culture, Rob draws from the essence of both of these traditions. He wishes his work to be universally available to people of all spiritual persuasions. One stoutly Christian woman, referred by her medical doctor, agreed to work with him only after she grilled him extensively about his beliefs. She reported that her faith was strengthened in the process of her work with Rob. Yet others who have broader views of spirituality also feel at home. His clarity, openness and humility have helped attract a mix of people to the fold, which seems remarkably free of pretension and any suggestion of cult.

Anthony William (Los Angeles, California)

Anthony William was born with the unique ability to converse with a high-level spirit who provides him with extraordinarily accurate health information that's often far ahead of its time. When Anthony was four years old, he shocked his family by announcing at the dinner table that his symptom-free grandmother had lung cancer. Medical testing soon confirmed the diagnosis.

For over 25 years, Anthony has devoted his life to helping people overcome and prevent illness—and discover the lives they were meant to live. What he does is several decades ahead of scientific discovery. His compassionate approach, which takes into account wellbeing on every level, not just physical health, has time and again given relief and results to those who seek him out.

Anthony's unprecedented accuracy and success rate as the Medical Medium have earned him the trust and love of thousands worldwide, among them movie stars, rock stars, billionaires, professional athletes, best-selling authors, and countless other people from all walks of life who couldn't find a way to heal until he provided them with insights from Spirit.

*Anthony has also become an invaluable resource to doctors who need help solving their most difficult cases. He is the author of the New York Times Best Selling book, Medical Medium: Secrets Behind Chronic and Mystery Illness and How to Finally Heal.*

Marianne Williamson

Marianne Williamson is an internationally acclaimed spiritual author and lecturer. Marianne has been a popular guest on television programs such as Oprah, Larry King Live, Good Morning America, Charlie Rose & Bill Maher. Seven of her twelve published books have been New York Times Best Sellers. Four of these have been #1. The mega best seller A Return to Love is considered a must-read of The New Spirituality. A paragraph from that book, beginning “Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure...” is considered an anthem for a contemporary generation of seekers.

Marianne’s other books include The Law of Divine Compensation, The Age of Miracles, Everyday Grace, A Woman’s Worth, Illuminata, Healing the Soul of America, A Course in Weight Loss, The Gift of Change, Enchanted Love, A Year of Miracles, and her newest book, Tears to Triumph: The Spiritual Journey from Suffering to Enlightenment.

Marianne is a native of Houston, Texas. In 1989, she founded Project Angel Food, a meals-on-wheels program that serves homebound people with AIDS in the Los Angeles area. To date, Project Angel Food has served over 8 million meals. Marianne also co-founded the Peace Alliance. And she serves on the Board of Directors of the RESULTS organization, working to end the worst ravages of hunger and poverty throughout the world.

Tina Mascara

Editor

Tina Mascara studied journalism and photography at the Art Institute in Pittsburgh and moved to Los Angeles to study cinema. Over the years, she developed a keen sense for storytelling and produced, directed and edited two independent feature films, "Jacklight" and "Asphalt Stars". Her interest in documentaries started while working with her husband on "Chris & Don: A Love Story" and "Monk With A Camera"- both critically acclaimed documentaries which she co-produced and edited. Constructing, choosing the right stories, making connections, and finding the whys and wherefores, is what she is most passionate about and to her, documentaries are great because they present a real challenge in that sense.

Christopher Gallo

Director of Photography

Gallo's work reflects an unflinching eye, a constant pursuit of truth, and offers a unique perspective on the American experience and the world at large. His features, music videos and documentaries have covered everything from Will.i.Am to amputee soccer in Sierra Leone and his commercial work has spanned clients from Alfa Romeo to Nike. With Sundance, SXSW, Cannes and Venice film festivals under his belt as well, Gallo's work remains current in today's ever changing world. Gallo is used to being an outsider and created a career engaging in film adventures around the world. Gallo has spent a lifetime absorbing and observing a diverse cross-section of American and international society. Perhaps that's why he is just as comfortable filming for The National Geographic as he is shooting commercials for Chrysler. Gallo brings an authenticity with him stemming from an openness to people and a desire to hear, and tell, their stories. It is this knack for taking the reality of the world and translating it cinematically that lends a real sense of genuine emotional humanity to all his work. A true citizen of the world, his work offers an aesthetic and social reach that surpasses conventional western expectation.

Michael Mollura

Composer

*Widely recognized and respected in the entertainment, academic and spiritual communities as the go to composer for feature films with dramatic spiritual themes, award-winning music composer Michael R. Mollura has proven himself over and over again that composing music is not only a job, but a form of devotion. His original music work on such critically acclaimed films Awake: The Life of Yogananda, Climate Refugees, The Highest Pass, as well as dramatic features Reconciliation, Clarity and countless others including films found on HBO, Amazon and Netflix, have set groundbreaking standards for spiritual music in film that incorporates depth, soul and an understanding of the art of cinema. Mollura's compositions for his most recent film score Hare Krishna (2017) are considered to be among his strongest and biggest scores to date that includes the versatility of authentic sacred Ragas from India, to western orchestrations and even world-driven electronic groove music. Mollura is proud and excited to also be the composer for the film HEAL (2017) directed by Kelly Noonan which includes an eclectic blend of electronic minimalist inspired compositions in addition to the heart-driven piano melodies Mollura is most known for.*
